

Nursing Trends and Challenges, Including Through and After COVID-19

Now more than ever it is important that we gain an understanding of the ever-evolving challenges and trends affecting the nursing profession. What are the challenges? What does the future hold? Join us for this webinar as Mike Villeneuve, the CEO of the Canadian Nurses Association (CNA) will:

- Describe the services provided by the Canadian Nurses Association
- Examine nursing trends and challenges throughout and following the COVID-19 pandemic
- Offer nursing solutions to meet the health needs of Canadians

Presenter: Michael Villeneuve, RN, M.Sc, FAAN
CEO, Canadian Nurses Association

Michael Villeneuve is a nurse leader well known across the country for his work related to the future of nursing and health care. He is the executive lead for the Commission secretariat, based at CNA in Ottawa. Villeneuve was CNA's scholar-in-residence from 2006 to 2011, after joining the organization in July 2004 as senior nurse consultant. He has been a leader of CNA's Toward 2020 futures agenda and its ongoing public policy activities across the country.
